In Next Sunday's Issue

—OF—

The Washington Herald

—you will find more good reading, more exclusive articles, more of the features that distinguish the big Metropolitan newspapers than you will find in any other Washington newspaper.

"Looping North America"

—another chapter in the story of a trip from East to West via the Canal by George R. Miner, for two years Sunday editor of the Philadelphia Press, for four years editor New York Herald, for six years special London correspondent of the New York Herald, for three years Sunday editor of the New York Sun, and formerly editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

4-Color Magazine Section

—the handsomest magazine supplement south of New York. Filled with newsy articles and striking illustrations in colors.

Dramatic

—the theatrical season is in full swing, and to keep well informed on the attractions, present and future at the local theaters, you should not miss Julia Chandler Manz's reviews and comments in the Sunday Herald. It is the most complete dramatic section in Washington.

Just a Few of the Many Timely, Interesting and Readable Features of Next Sunday's Issue of

Washington's Fastest Growing NewspaperSociety

—The latest, most authoritative news of the activities of the "Smart Set" of the Nation's Capital published at full length. The most comprehensive resume of the week's activities and presentment of forthcoming functions of society.

She Always Kept Him Guessing

—but he killed her to make sure of her and on the eve of her big chance. This is an intensely interesting page dealing with the fight between Love and Ambition—just one page of the Magazine Section.

O. Henry

—"The American Du Maupassant," master of the short story, is represented by another of his masterpieces—The Head-Hunter.

News

—all of it that is news, presented in a clear, concise manner with nothing added for effect and nothing subtracted.
